

Our core values

Our core values are the way in which we put our organisational principles into practice. They form the guidelines of ethical personal and professional conduct against which our actions can and will be measured.

- Always offer high quality, ethical and compassionate care for all patients
- Provide excellence, consistency and honesty in customer service to all clients
- Demonstrate honesty, pride and integrity in all professional and personal interactions
- Actively participate in the continual improvement of Vetwest policies, procedures and standards of care
- Take responsibility for our own personal performance, development and education
- Acknowledge the influence that individual actions and attitudes have on the team and workplace
- Support a culture of unity and cooperation within and between all Vetwest practices
